All content appearing on this Website belongs to LATAM and as such is protected by international copyright law. The information contained in our Website has been produced with the intention of providing information on LATAM as well as the products and services the company offers via the Internet and other outlets. You may only use the information provided by our Website for the purposes detailed in the “Terms and Conditions” contract, meaning that any other use or modification of the site’s contents is prohibited.

The information provided by LATAM TRADE has been compiled via internal and external sources, and in each case has been done so with the intent of providing the most up-to-date content possible. Nevertheless, it is possible that some out-of-date or incomplete information may appear, and for this reason we recommend that you confirm the information before making use of it. In order to do so, we suggest that you contact the LATAM office nearest you or our telephone help desk. We appreciate any notification of errors you may be able to provide.

In many cases, our Website may make reference to other Websites, but LATAM TRADE does not take responsibility for the content of these sites. All links to other sites are provided for the sole purpose of providing our customers and associates with a broader range of references.

All products and services provided by this site are subject to the Terms and Conditions detailed on the site itself. As such, we suggest that you read and review these in their entirety.

Any problems or questions pertaining to the validity, application or interpretation of the information available on our Website will be resolved by the Courts of Justice in LATAM’s home country, and will be subject to the applicable laws of this country. The previous statement notwithstanding, LATAM reserves the right to opt to litigate before the Courts of Justice in the customer’s country of residence, in accordance with the applicable laws in said jurisdiction.